

bluQube

bluQube is an innovative 'open' accounting platform that is designed to assist organisations in solving everyday financial business challenges in a practical and simplified way.

Based on web-based technology, bluQube has been developed to improve the lives of finance professionals by saving time, money and resources through sophisticated yet easy to use technology.

By introducing a host of time-saving initiatives such as devolved access and self-service budgeting, the inherent openness and flexibility of bluQube offers exciting possibilities from web-based reporting through to paperless transactions via e-procurement.

bluQube is a fully integrated financial and management accounting solution aimed at a range of organisations. The bluQube philosophy is inspired by a vision to simplify and improve the lives of finance professionals, by delivering clear and measurable business benefits as a result of applying technology to enhance the efficiency of financial operation.

The advent and ubiquity of Internet based applications, which are at the heart of bluQube, has helped to revolutionise the accountancy function. Finance professionals can now benefit from greater visibility and accessibility of accounting information together with greater efficiencies through automated procedures such as the real-time exchange of data between different applications and on-demand reporting.

Unlike other solutions, bluQube is highly flexible and can be purchased either as an all-in-one solution or alternatively as modular components dependent on user requirements.

bluQube represents both a current and future platform for effective financial management and is being continually developed to mirror the demands of the accounting community.
